TENNESSEE MOB'S INHUMAN WORK.

Negro Assailant Horribly Tortured and Mutilated.

ONE OF HIS EARS CUT OFF.

Fingers of Each Hand Pounded Into a Pulp Before He Was Shot to Death.

HATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 5.—A mob of men forced the guards at the Cole City stockade to surrender. On the night of Oct. 4, a colored "trustee" and tortured and killed the prisoner. Smith had been tortured and mutilated and criminally accused. Miss Mary Henderson, daughter of Col. W. A. Henderson, a farmer, was near Carpenter's Station, who was visiting the family of her uncle at Cole City. The girl's injuries are so serious that she can hardly recover.

Smith was taken from the stockade by a mob of 200 men. The Sheriff and Jailer and several men were on guard, but the mob refused to listen to reason and tear down the stockade and set it on fire unless Smith was delivered. Smith was never seen again. They carried him to a pond near where the assault committed. He confessed his guilt and then treated to torture which is unknown. In fact, he was tortured and mutilated in a fearful manner by his father, Wm. Henderson, who subsequently cut off the negro's ears, he was found to have four fingers. His fingers were cut off one by one. Each man in the crowd then took a turn at shooting at him until he must have had about four or five fingers cut off. He was severely shot to pieces and the bloody pulp, which only an hour before had been Neal Smith, was thrown into a hastily prepared pile of brush and burned until not a scrap of bone remained.

KEPT HIS DEATH SECRET.

W. P. Andrews' Son Did Not Want a Mortgage Terminated.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

BOWEN, Ill., Oct. 5.—It has just come to light that Wm. P. Andrews, supposed to be alive, has been dead since last February and was secretly buried on his farm near Warsaw, this county. On hearing the story State's Attorney Hartsell, Coroner Hessen and Sheriff Weisemann visited Andrews' farm to investigate. At first the son Charles claimed that his father was alive and in Kansas, but he afterwards admitted the body was kept in the shed or smokehouse until March 1 and then buried. The Coroner impounded the body and returned to Andrews' home. The son, who was the only person in the place where the body was buried was shown by a youth who assisted in the interment. Fourteen inches down the body was found to be a red book. This was identified as a foul play, and the remains were re-interred in a deeper grave.

Eastern parties held a mortgage on the Andrews' property, which was to be paid long after Andrews' or his wife survived. Mrs. Andrews died some years ago, and it is believed that Charles kept his father's death secret to prevent the holders of the mortgage from terminating it and demanding payment of the principal.

At the wedding Miss Vanderbilt should be a picture. A number of wreaths were borne before the coffin, which was followed by the family of the deceased, the minister, senators, deputies and friends from America, from foreign scientific and other bodies from all parts of France, and from many foreign countries. After an all-night search for Miss Caldwell, the police located him and brought him to the Four Courts. The police threw every protection in their power around him and reporters were not allowed near him. He was taken into Chief Harrigan's office and Detective Alender and Capt. O'Malley both denied that he had ever used his name.

He is said to be a well-known politician in the city, and a married man. The same authority says he lives in the northwest part of the city, and is a friend of Mayor Walbridge. The reticence of the police to protect him should be known to those who were with Miss Caldwell there would certainly be trouble in his family. It is believed that the girl knew he is married, and refused to reveal his name as a means of protecting herself and him.

At 1:30 p.m. Miss Caldwell was accompanied to the Four Courts by Detective Alender, who is in Chief Harrigan's office. Together they went over their experiences in Goldman's restaurant on the night of the murder. The suspect, Kendrick, was not present. It is known that Miss Caldwell's companion, but that he could say no more than that he looked like the man who saw him in the restaurant.

Romance and mystery were intertwined with the life of the girl, who was found dead. Her death is still unexplained add but another chapter in keeping with the unwritten story of his eventful career.

TO-MORROW'S SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

For the opening of the crowning week of St. Louis' fall festivities to-morrow's Sunday Post-Dispatch will be accompanied by brilliant, breezy, entertaining and beautiful with illustrations.

The following are some of the features that will delight its readers:

The Veiled Prophet's Pageant—His august majesty again makes his triumphal entry into St. Louis next Tuesday evening. The occasion will be one of unparalleled interest, and the full story will be told in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, with superb illustrations accompanying.

The subject selected for representation by this year's pageant is rich in unusually picturesque material, and each and every float will be shown in all its glory in the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

OFFICIAL EXAMPLE.

Health Officers have attributed of the spread of the mild form of malaria now prevailing in St. Louis to the carelessness of physicians. They accuse physicians of failing to report suspicious cases and to compel the proper isolation of patients. They accuse parents of permitting children to go to school from houses in which there is a case of diphtheria. Dr. Starkloff has issued an earnest appeal to physicians to comply with the sanitary regulations of the department.

It is probably true that many physicians and parents are guilty of carelessness.
Some suspicious cases are not reported and are not properly isolated, but are the Health Officers blameless? do they do their duty in the matter of venting and fumigating houses and eradicating disease-breeding nuisances?

The Post-Dispatch has some excellent evidence to the effect that the Health Officers are negligent. In one complaint to this office the writer cited a case in which a Health Officer was noticed and a death from diphtheria and after an investigation declared that he had located the nuisance which was the source of disease. Yet the house was not fumigated nor was any step taken to abate the nuisance for seven days, although three notifications were made while sent to the Health Department. The department then notified the wrong person to abate the nuisance.

This case shows both neglect and inefficiency on the part of the Health Officers. If officials paid to carry out sanitary regulations fail to do it, how can they expect citizens to pay attention to them? How can officials enforce laws and regulations which they themselves violated?

AN UNTEARABLE FLEA.

The tone of the Conservative British newspapers indicates a desire on the part of the Government to accept the charge of the Turkish authorities that the Armenian riots in Constantinople are the result of an Armenian conspiracy as an excuse for not immediately enforcing Armenian reforms.

If it were proven beyond question that it is in Constantinople had arrived to protest their people in shadow of defense for the Turks, of justification for British delay or extenuation for the further maltreatment of Armenians.

No one can blame the Armenians for protesting in every possible way against the horrors of Turkish rule. The wonder is that they have not gone to desperation lengths in protest against their situation.

Their patience has been marvelous.
It is needless to recur to the heart-rending outrages inflicted upon the Armenian population of Sasoun or to the months of starvation, exposure and continued outrage which the survivors still suffer. They are wandering in the open, naked and starving and subject to the constant terror of brutality and murder.

Their condition is insufferable and an appeal has been sent out by the Duke of Westminster for the Armenian Relief Fund to supply them with food and clothes.

Every day's delay and every life sacrificed in Armenia or Constantinople on any pretext whatsoever will merely darken the blot on the record of Turkish rule and British responsibility for Turkish crimes.

WALL STREET AND WHITNEY.

The country is asked to regard the gentlemen who compose the New York Chamber of Commerce as a pack of ignoramates; that is to say, it has been told that the reason the "campaign of education" conducted by that body has been closed is because its promoters have concluded that the "silver craze" is dead and there is no longer a necessity for a "sound money" campaign.

Had Olney talked as well to the trusts as he does to the lion, he would have been much beloved by his countrymen. Almost any statesman will talk "easy" to Great Britain, but when he comes to the trusts he is a lamb.

The American voter knows that there are many better men for the Presidency than those whose names are most mentioned in connection with it, but unfortunately they have not been introduced to the people.

Bradley having beat a retreat in the Kentucky campaign, other Republican orators want to divide time with Hardin.
This shows how little there was in Bradley's excuse that he was intimidated.

Watson in Georgia probably realizes now where he is "at," the result of the congressional election of the 2d having shown him to have lost votes in many counties and more than 100 in his own.

But there may be a reason why the New York Chamber of Commerce would like to be looked upon as foolish. Wall street never objects in the outside public to its being lamblike and simple. The true reason may be found in the suggestion that William C. Whitney is responsible for the checking of the campaign of education. Mr. Whitney has an ambition to be President. He has found that the silver sentiment is too strong to be bulldozed or trifled with.
He is probably preparing to sooth it and cajole it and then entrap it.

Wall street posing as peaceful and lent is more dangerous than Wall street on the war path. A word to the wise is sufficient.

NOTES.

The Chicagooid did so much slugging in the recent primary election that some of them may be too weary to go down to the Corbett-Fitz meeting.

In another week or two Mr. Harrison will be saying to Gen. New: "Well, Johnny, isn't it about time for us to withdraw again?"

Coxey drew a bigger crowd at Urbana than a distinguished Republican orator.
This may or may not be bad for the charity concert at Marienbad. She is only 15 years old.

Kate Field, who recently visited Colorado, recalls the time when she carried an English bath tub all the way to Denver only to find that the hotel at which she stopped was equipped with porcelain bathtubs and supplied with hot and cold water.

Judge Murphy's shirt-sleeve rulings are of small consequence, as coats can be borrowed, but the liberation of criminals is a serious matter.

Though the Democracy failed with Hancock the Superb, they might succeed with Schofield the Admirable.

The following are some good sisters that will far apart.

If anybody in Kentucky is cheering Bradley, it certainly is not because he funked.

"Cheese it, Cully!" the sports all called to Culverton, but Cully didn't cheese it.

Col. Patrick Meledy is neither lost nor gone before.

THE THIRD TERM BUGABOO.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.
Those free-silver Democrats to whom Grover Cleveland is a red rag, should be admonished that their dread of a third term is pure bug-a-boo.

Dense as the President is in many of his ways, he is a man of robust common sense and strong self-respect. He values his record as he does his office. His reputation is dear to him. He knows that he has done the State some service. He knows that, for all his defects, he has in the greater affairs of administration the confidence and respect of fair-minded, enlightened Americans. Would such a man sacrifice all upon the hazard of a fourth from the Presidential dice-box?

It is not conceivable. If he should, and even if by some miraculous concatenation of events, he could hardly carry a fourth nomination, he could hardly carry a congressional district in the Union. It would be a revolution. The people would rise in mass. For organizations and individuals to secure themselves from loss from Mahan Bros. is the only way to make the impending legal fight of our business to its owners.

A New Popular Song—Words and Music of "The Girl I Met at the Hop," composed by Mr. Wm. Schuyler, the well-known St. Louis litterateur and musician. It's catchy, melodious, with a tuneful waltz chorus that has a litte just suited to its title.

Mummies of Solid Marble—An Eastern undertaker has discovered a process of embalming that promises to bring about radical improvements in that art. The full details of his discovery are here given.

The Saenger Rattlesnake—Description of a remarkable reptile now infesting certain portions of the State of Michigan.
He's one of the most striking of his kind, and that's saying a great deal.

"Burking" in St. Louis in Old Days—
The recent disclosures made by Maggie Dalton of the ghastly traffic in paupers' dead bodies alleged to have been carried from the Poor-house potters field brings up stories of some exciting times in old St. Louis. A local physician gives his reminiscences of how "subjects" were obtained for the dissecting tables in those old days, and other interesting recollections are given.

Has Them on the Run—
From the Linn (Mo.) Democrat.
The St. Louis Republic is in wild ec-stacies of delight over the Jones-Pulitzer injunction suit. It is safe to say that the House (who has been a party to the suit) will never be involved in a suit of like nature, since it has not courage enough to take a stand that would displease its bosses, who have held sway over it in the past two or three years.

Ex-Gov. Campbell is directly charging in his speeches that a bribe of $2,000 was paid to the late Ohio Legislature for the passage of a bill to enact a new mechanics' lien law, and he has proof to back up his assertion. Evidently Ohio states are out for something more than railroad passes.

A gold-standard protectionist must occasionally admit to himself that he is inconsistent. While professing to see ruin in reducing tariffs because of foreign trade, he is scarcely logical in supposing that foreigners will control our financial policy for our benefit.

SOUTH AFRICAN BUBBLE.

It May Be Pricked at Any Time, With Awful Results.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—A special to the World from London says:

While South African and other mining shares have suffered a considerable decline there was not a sufficient rally to apparently show a full control of the situation. But

All financial authorities agree that if it may be realized from the fact that during the last month alone, when the market was at its height, the value of stocks connected with South Africa and Australia for mining and other purposes were registered at a somewhat higher figure than at present.

Exclusive of the new Barnato bank, of the once stowaway and circus employee, who has had anything to do with helping the marriage along. Catholic clerics declare the priest was a man of good character.

Went before the Grand-jury yesterday and testified that Fr. Dominick Wagner was responsible for her downfall three years ago.

Fr. Wagner was drawn from him by a written statement sworn to by the Steidel girl, in which she told of her intention to marry him.

When she did, she said, the priest was present in the house of St. Michael's Church.

The girl said she was willing to marry Wagner, but unless they were married she would testify against him in the criminal court.

Wagner says he will go West with his wife and engage in business.

After confession made by the priest a few days ago was drawn from him by a written statement sworn to by the Steidel girl, in which she told of her intention to marry him.

When she did, she said, the priest was present in the house of St. Michael's Church.

The girl said she was willing to marry Wagner, but unless they were married she would testify against him in the criminal court.

He gives some startling instances of the magnitude of the speculation. The aggregate quotation of Witwatersrand shares, for instance, about quoted at $100,000,000.

Shares in the principal mining companies have risen within a few months by 1,000 per cent or more above their face value are common. More than a year ago a gentleman familiar with South African mining experts said that the boom was then at the mere extreme limit and that they expected a crash any moment. But the advance since has surpassed the bounds of imagination.

According to a book written and lately issued for private circulation by Mr. Ferdinand Rothschild, being a diary of his trip last year, $200,000,000 in stock of the Mano River concession in behance of the Mancor river extended as far as the boundary of British Guiana and Venezuela.

The purpose of the concession was to develop agriculture, cattle breeding and mining. The company proposed to set aside a portion of the Mano River for the development of its concession and that any persons disregarding or acting in contravention of the terms of the concession and within these limits would be liable to prosecution. One month later, hearing that the same company proposed to set up a new mint in the middle of the Barrow river, a British Commissioner served formal notice in two letters that no such thing was to be done and two months later than this the British Consul General addressed the Venezuelan Government directly on the question, requesting it to take measures to prevent the company from interfering with British interests or employing police force to restrain the Inca from carrying out its plans.

WILL MARRY MONDAY.

Rov. Fr. Dominick Wagner and Maud Steidel, His Victim.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 5.—It has been definitely settled that Rev. Fr. Dominick Wagner and Maud Steidel will be married Monday, if not sooner. Wagner has transferred to Alex Podivat about $5,000 worth of property in trust for the girl. Members of the Catholic Church say the priest will be degraded and excommunicated. An effort will be made to excommunicate all other members of the church who have had anything to do with helping the marriage along. Catholic clerics declare the priest was a man of good character.

Wagner says he will go West with his wife and engage in business.

If Mexico Abolishes Its Present Inter-

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The Consul Gen-the changes proposed to be made by the ADMIRALS IN TROUBLE.

Both Kirkland and Carpenter Will Probably Be Recalled.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—It is said that when the President returns to Washington the Secretary of the Navy Herbert will ask his consent to recall Admiral Kirkland from Europe and Admiral Carpenter from China. Kirkland has been reprimanded for congratulating the President of the French Republic and also for coarsely ordering a Chaplain below during the Rio festivities. Kirkland is reported to have been recalled from the brilliant service of the French because of his trouble with the officers in uniform. He is also in trouble for saying abroad: "If I were in Admiral Carpenter's place I would do my best to protect any missionary in China." Kirkland on his recall will probably retire and take up his residence in Montevideo, he having married a Uruguayan lady.

Admiral Carpenter's lack of zeal in connection with the outrages in China is the cause of complaint against him. He is held responsible for failing to do his duty.

Commodore M. Seward of the Brooklyn Navy Yard is likely to be sent to Europe and Commodore Selfridge to China, both as Acting Rear Admirals.
